

SARNDRA STEPHENS

COURSE ADVISOR

Hi, I'm Sarndra, and I've spent more than 20 years being part of the ITC whānau. My own tourism journey began as a tour guide with Topdeck Travel, where I spent around eight months of each year travelling through Europe, Russia, Scandinavia, Eastern Europe, Greece and Turkey. I also worked as a Contiki tour guide in New Zealand before moving into retail and corporate travel with Flight Centre and Corporate Traveller.

My career later took me to Australia, where I spent six years working in travel, including roles with Qantas, as a travel agent and as a tutor in travel colleges.

I've been part of the ITC whānau for more than 20 years, working across tutoring, Study From Home, Course Advising and most recently as an Employment Consultant, supporting students and graduates as they take their next steps into the industry.

I'm now excited to return to the Course Advisor role, helping new students explore their options, understand what ITC has to offer and navigate their enrolment journey. Choosing what to study can feel overwhelming, so I'm here to answer questions, provide information and help students find the pathway that's right for them.

What I love most about ITC is seeing where a student's journey can take them. I've seen so many students grow in confidence, find their direction and go on to build careers they're proud of, and I'm looking forward to helping the next generation do the same.
